shouldered something severe and imposing. He looked me gravely.

"M. Christian Venus, the artist," he said:

"That is my name, also."

He bowed again, adding:

"The Baron Fredio Van Sprakdal."

The appearance in my poor garret of this impressed me strongly. I threw a glance upon my wretched furniture, tattered draperies, and dirty floor, and felt humiliated; but Van Sprakdal appeared to pay

REPUBLICAN NOMINATION.

OF MAINE.

ELECTING OFFICERS.

Among the varied duties devolving upon the freemen of this country, the one designated by the words at the head of this article stands out prominently. It is upon the proper performance of this duty that, in a great measure, the future welfare of the country and State depend.

Realizing this folly, sensible that upon the intelligent, faithful action of the voters, as displayed in their votes, turned the destinies of our beloved land, the framers of our institutions have thrown around our elective franchise many great safeguards, and also made it a safeguard to other and important interests.

From such considerations, we acknowledge ourselves in favor of requiring by law that every elective vote cast by a representative body should be viva voce. We think that, delegated as these representatives are, whether in General Assembly, Board of Aldermen, Committee Council or wherever they hold office, to hold important trusts, being in fact agents, these representatives, these agents, should be required to give, in such a public manner, an account of their stewardship. The case is different with regard to the primary electors. There, citizens are acting in their own right, and are responsible to no other man for their transactions. Of course they should have the option of acting openly or privately. But all members of representative bodies are acting in a secondary, representative character, are doing, or supposed to be doing, what their constituents elected them to do. It is also because if they fail to do that for which they were elected, the freemen may suppose them by others who will more faithfully represent their constituents, that we contend that votes elective should be viva voce. How else can the elector know whether his representative, his agent, has been true to his trust, has

It is a trite saying, "that all human beings are imperfect." It is so trite, and readily admitted, that many political requirements and acts, based upon this truth, have, in the common estimation, lost their real foundation.

The framers of democratic institutions have made use of the elective franchise as a powerful incentive, as a strong impelling motive to overcome the frailties of man. It is with this view that officers are required to submit to the ordeal of frequent re-election, the theory being that a sense of responsibility will be brought home to the officer who he reflects, as he necessarily must, upon these constantly occurring elections. The design was, that a faithful officer, one who discharged his duty according to law and his best ability, should be approved by his re-election, so often as he might desire it.

Hence we think that all executive officers who have been faithful in the discharge of the duties of office, should be re-elected so long as they may desire, provided they continue to discharge their duties with ability and fidelity.
Any one looking about our community, or any other, will see the excellent effects of this practice where it has been adopted. Where do we find the best public officers? Not among those who are being put into office and out of office by every changing breath, by every election. It is among the officers who have held their offices for years, under all varieties of politics and administrations. Not to mention others, we have one admirable illustration of the working of this principle, in the venerable officer whose firm, faithful discharge of duty has been such an ornament to our city for so many years as Clerk.

But the evils of the opposite course must be apparent upon a very little reflection. Frequent changes of executive officers give, as one result, a succession of officers, who, as a matter of necessity, lack acquaintance with the duties of their various offices. This, a moment's consideration must make apparent. Often it happens that the protection of property, of morals and of life demand instant, vigorous action.
It is then no time to consult authorities, to take the benefit of legal advice. Instead of study, we need action; instead of indecision, hesitation, we want promptness, firmness.
But these evils are so potent that we pass on to others.

The public executive officer is often called upon by law and his solemn oath, to enforce statutes that will bring heavy penalties upon his personal friends, or influential members of the community, upon sometimes whole classes of the community. Human nature, we all say, is imperfect. The officer naturally reasons with himself in this way: "There are many in this city (or town, as the case may be,) who profess to be friends of law, and want it executed. But if I execute this law upon that man, he will be mad, his friends will sympathize with him, and the result will be, I shall lose my office. There, behind me, are my wife and children. They must live, and I must procure for them the necessities of life. It is hard, but I have sworn to do my duty, and I will, if I do lose my office."

The unpleasant duty is performed, the law is enforced, the officer goes to his bed with the approbation of his conscience, but with fear and trembling for his office. At the next election he has a successor. Do our readers think the lesson will be lost upon that successor?
We all may hope that he will prove to be faithful, but if so, it is manifestly in spite of the influences of those who have elected him.

Such a course is, in fact, to speak plainly, giving a reward to infidelity, hiding by money and the mighty influence of the appointing power—perjury. That successor would reason logically if he were to say: "I obtained my office because my predecessor was a faithful officer. I perceive that the city do-not want faithful officers. Do you think I shall prove a faithful officer, when I shall lose my office by so doing? No! I will do as little as possible, and by so doing save my official head."

From these and many other considerations the true policy is apparent. Our citizens have an interest in seeing that the very practical intended to make faithful officers, is not used to make those of the opposite character.

LOCAL ITEMS.

Court of Justices.

FRIDAY, June 8, 1860.

The only case was State vs. George E. Harard. Complaint by John H. Irish, for letting a house for a nuisance. On account of the absence of the City Solicitor, the case was continued until next Tuesday. Sheffield and White for the defendants.

The Court decided to continue the days and hours for holding its sessions the same as for the past months.

INDIANS.—Attention is called to the advertisement in another column, and also to circular in relation to Father Beeson's Indian Exhibition on Saturday afternoon and evening, June 9th, and Tuesday the 12th, in Aquidneck Hall, where the people of Newport can have an opportunity of listening to Laroqua, the Indian songstress, who has charmed thousands with her enchanting musical voice, and to witness the dances and ceremonies of Red Feather, who will give impressions of the manners and customs of the natives, worthy to be remembered.

BERKELEY INSTITUTE.—THE PUPILS OF THE BERKELEY IN-STITUTE are hereby notified that the Summer Term will commence on Thursday, May 3, when the School will meet in the rooms recently fitted up for them at the corner of Church and School Streets.

The class of young ladies will meet on the same day at the residence of the Principal, No. 12 Bull Street, where they will have the same arrangements as heretofore.

W.M. C. EVERETT.

THOMAS COOPER, M.A., late Receiver of Public Money at Natchez, Louisiana, nephew of Thomas Cooper of Ohio, is defaulter to the government for $65,000. The government will probably sustain no loss, as the securities are perfectly responsible.

BIRDS.

THE PARTING.

The moon hung low on the rim of the mist,
His last had the nightingale sang,
When the lover came from his sweet love-tryst
Where the rose of passion clung.

In his glance was the flush of a visitor's pride,
A light on his forehead above,
For like other triumphs are poor by the side Of youth's first garland of love.

And a conqueror greater is he by far
One pure loving heart who gains,
Than he who may stand as the lord of war
On a thousand battle plains.

But dark grew the garden, and dimmer the sky,
And dark was the moment above,
And treason was watching, and danger was nigh,
For hate is in the shadow of love.

Simple Division.

We heard a story the other night on the subject of division that we thought some at the time and give our readers the benefit of it:

A Southern Planter named P—, pretty well to do in the world now, was, some twenty years ago, a poor boy on the Eastern shore of Maryland. One of the most marked traits of his character was an infinite love of money. In the course of time P— was of age, and thought it was about time to get married. He went to a neighboring town, and was shortly after introduced to the daughter of Judge B—. "Dang fine gal," said the embryo speculator to his friends who were gaining him an entrance to the elite.

"Very."

"How much might Judge B— be worth?"

"Why, about ten thousand dollars, was the reply."

"And how many children has the Judge, continued P—?"

"Only three."

"Three into ten goes three times and a third over," mentally ciphered P—. He made love to the beautiful and unsophisticated daughter of the Judge and all his possessions. Strange to say, for he was as uncouth a looking cur as ever went unlicked; his suit prospered and they were married. The honeymoon passed off in a honeymoon do, and they were happy. The bride was lively and chatty, and made many allusions to her brothers and sisters. Sintled at so many names he thought should not be in the catalogue of relations, he said:

"My dear, I thought there were only three of you!"

"So there are, but pa's first wife had eight more."

"Eleven in two, no times and nary over," said the astonished P—, who had jumped up and kicked over a chair, and groaned in perfect agony. "I'm sold—and a sight cheaper than an old boll weaver at that!"

VARIETIES.

That which is always capable of perfection is never perfected.

Justice is certainly an odd fish—she has only a single pair of scales.

It is exceedingly bad husbandry to harrow up the feelings of your wife.

The poor birds are not a very bold race, and yet a great many of them die game.

What goes most against a farmer's grain? His reaping-machine.

What means of conveyance by land, and what by sea, are Indian fondest of?—Busses and smacks.

Somebody says that the best way to keep food upon a weak stomach is to boil it down.

Moderation is the silken string running through the pearl chain of all virtues.

On a frosty day, what two fish ought we to tie together? Skates and soles.

Falseness is often rocked by truth, but the soon outgrows her cradle, and discards her nurse.

An indiscreet person is like an unsealed letter, which every one may read, but which is seldom worth reading.

The bread of life is love; the salt of life is work; the sweetness of life, poetry; the water of life, faith.

PARKER SEWING MACHINE.

It is more simple and more easily kept in Order than other Machines.

It makes a seam which will not rip or ravel, though every third stitch be cut.

It sews from two ordinary spools, and thus all trouble of winding thread is avoided.

The same machine, by a mere exchange of spoons, can be adapted to all varieties of work.

The same machine runs silk, linen threads, and common spool cotton, with equal facility.

The seam is as elastic as the most elastic fabric, so that it is free from all liability to break in washing, ironing or wear.

The stitch is more beautiful than any other made, either by hand or machine.

No one who has carefully examined the various patents now before the public, can fail of seeing that this machine is the best adapted to all the wants of the family.

It runs rapidly.

It makes very little noise.

It is impossible for our stitch to rip by accident. Yet, when it is DESIREABLE, a seam can be ripped; either all through or up to any desirable point, beyond which point, again, it is equally impossible for it to be ripped, except designedly. The same cannot be said of any other stitch.

A CARD TO THE LADIES.

Dr. DUNTON's Golden Periodical Pills for Females.

Perfectly harmless, yet wonderfully and powerfully efficacious in correcting regulating, and removing all obstruction from whatever cause.

All medical men know, as well as many others that no female can enjoy good health, unless she is regular; and whenever an obstruction takes place, whether from exposure, cold, or any other cause, the general health begins immediately to decline, and the want of such a remedy has been the cause of so many complications among young females. Headache, Pain in the Side, Palpitation of the Heart, Loss of Food, and Disturbed Sleep, do most always arise from the interruption of nature; and whenever that is the case, the Pills will invariably remove all these evils; and may always be used successfully as a preventive.

Price $1 per box. Postage, 132 Thames Street, corner Church-street, and at 12 Washington Square, opposite State House.

Orders for the trade to be addressed will be supplied at lower manufacturer's prices. Ladies by enclosing $1 to STURGEON & CO., Box 801, Newport Post Office, and have the Bills sent on demand by mail to any part of the city or country.

It is a M.E. CINE, it is quick and effective, curing the most aggravated cases of Dyspepsia, Kidney Complaints, and all other derangements of the Stomach and Bowels, in a speedy manner.

It will instantly revive the most melancholy and drooping spirits, and restore the weak, nervous and weakly to health, strength and vigor.

Persons who, from the injudicious use of liquors, have become debased, and their nervous systems shattered, constitutions broken down, and subject to that horrible curse to humanity, the DELIRIUM TREMENS, will, almost immediately, feel the happy and healthy invigorating efficacy of Dr. Ham's Invigorating Spirit.

WHAT IT WILL DO.

One wine glass full as often as necessary.

One dose will remove all Bad Spirits.

One dose will cure Heart-burn.

Three doses will cure Indigestion.

One dose will give you a Good Appetite.

One dose will stop the distressing pains of Dyspepsia.

One dose will remove the distressing and disagreeable effects of Wind or Flatulence, and the moment the stomach receives the Invigorating Spirit, the distressing load and all painful feelings will be removed.

One dose will remove the most distressing pains of Cholitis, either in the stomach or bowels.

A few doses will remove all obstructions to the liver, Bladder, or Urinary organs.

Persons who are seriously affected with any Kidney complaints are assured speedy relief by a dose or two; and a radical cure by the use of one or two bottles.

NIGHTLY DISSIPATION.

During pregnancy it will be found an invaluable medicine to remove disagreeable sensations at the stomach.

All the proprietor asks, is a trial, and to induce this, he has, at present, the INVIGORATING SPIRIT in pint bottles, at 50 cts, quart $1.

AYER'S

Compound Extract of Sarsaparilla, the most effectual remedy which the medical skill of our times can devise for this every where prevailing and fatal malady. It is combined from the most active remedies that have been discovered for the expurgation of this foul disorder from the blood, and the rescue of the system from its destructive consequences. Hence it should be employed for the cure of not only scrofula, but also those other afflictions which arise from it, such as EPILEPSY and SKIN DISEASES, ST. ANTHONY'S FIRE, ROSE or ERYSIPELS, PIMPLS, PUSTRICES, BLISTERS, BOILS and HOLES, TUMORS, TETTER and SALT BREW, SCALD HEAT, RHEUMATISM, SYPHILIS and MUSCULAR DISEASES, DROPSY, DYSPAREUPTIC, DYSMENORHEA, and indeed ALL COMPLAINTS ARISING FROM VISCERAL OR IMPURE BLOOD. The popular belief in "impurity of the blood" is founded in truth, for scrofula is a degeneracy of the blood. The particular purpose and virtue of this Sarsaparilla is to purify and regenerate this vital fluid, without which sound health is impossible in contaminated constitutions.
